Zebra Hybrids is a collection of 400+ patches in 16 categories with root in other sound sources. This time the focus is on emulating other instruments. These instruments are all part of my studio so getting close and personal was not hard. Instruments that inspired me to do Zebra Hybrids was Access Virus TI, Roland Juno 6, Novation Supernova II, Clavia Nord Wave, Roland D-550, Roland JD-990, Ephiphone Emperor Joe Pass, Gibson Les Paul Studio, Tokai Springysound and Ibanez GWB35.

In most cases i have sampled several waveforms from the instrument and then tried to stick to the waveform which offered the most of the original. Ex. the guitars provided a good tone for the typical play area but lack a bit if you stray out of the normal play range, playing low keys reveal lack of frequency, playing high keys introduce the chip monks effect. The GW Bass suffer mostly from chip monks effect but the low end is good enough. The Virus TI had 32 of its waveforms sampled. The Juno 6 patches are a mix of various methods to get the Juno feel, mostly done by using waveform sampling or phase locking. The harder part was to get the right type of chorus.

The goal was to make patches which a non pro would not be able to tell the difference between real and fake instrument. Doing a 100% replica is impossible in all cases, lets just settle for good enough :)

Tonemeister owners will notice a few patches which have been improved, these patches are marked with NEW. Patches marked with (addon) are for building blocks or patch layers. Last i've included some PHRASE patches, it was an idea i had to make some small sequenced things to spice up an arrangement.

A little note regarding Juno patches, many of them are ARP patches but that dosent mean you cant use them without ARP. Disable the ARP and turn up the ENV Decay will give you full freedom to do whatever you like in most cases.

Also Tonemeister owners can ID new patches in an easy way, if it says "ARP" then its new, if it says "Arp" then its a Tonemeister patch. So the difference is big letters and small letters.

Thats about it, have fun with Zebra Hybrids :)

Installation

Unpack the ZIP file which holds all relevant files for the soundsset. Copy the Zebra Hybrids directory with all its content to your Zebra preset folder:
Somewhere on my comp.: \u-he\Zebra2.data\Presets\Zebra2

*If you are unsure where that somewhere is then try do a search for *.H2P files on your comp, then something Zebra like is bound to show up.*

Some tips

1. Always assume that the initial key for a patch is C3 unless noted in patch name.
2. Pay attention to Velocity, Mod Wheel and Aftertouch on ALL patches.
3. Learn to get the most from your patches using the EQ on the Global FX page.
4. Protect your ears, browse patches at low volume until you are familiar with them.

License agreement and terms of use:

1. To use patches from the Zebra Hybrids Soundset in your work you must own a license and agree to the following terms before use:
2. Under no circumstances may any of the content from the Zebra Hybrids Soundset be sampled, copied or resynthesized for use in any kind of commercial or free product.

Example:

- 2.a) The included patches are for use in a musical composition and not as a starting ground for building a commercial library of synth samples.
3. However, sampling is ok for as long as its part of a musical composition by the license holder.

Example:

- 3.a) Sampling drum sounds from Zebra Hybrids Soundset for use in a musical composition is ok as a license holder.
- 3.b) Sampling drum sounds from Zebra Hybrids Soundset for use in a commercial or free sound library is not ok.
- 3.c) Sampling a patch for creative sound mangling is ok as long as its used in a musical composition by the license holder.
4. The license is bound to the email and person who own the license to the product.
5. The license and the Zebra Hybrids Soundset is bound to the license holder for 6 months, after these 6 months the license can be transferred/resold to a new owner. This new owner must wait 6 months to make another transfer of the license.
